

Commonalities of Nursing; Ecuador 2014

“As we (nursing students) exchanged information made me realize that we have something in common which is very important, it is that we as nurses are caring, loving and compassionate no matter where we come from because we give care from our heart!”

“I think back to a specific instance in Tena where we visited a nursing home. I was able to create a pencil holder with a lovely woman named Ana. Now she didn't speak and I don't know if she fully understood what was going on around her, but all I remember was her incredible smile. Every little assistance I gave her, the shoulder massage, the hand rub and helping her get to lunch, each of these was greeted with the biggest smile. I honestly felt like a rock star, so I'm hoping that I was able to create a lasting impression on Ana.”
